

Exporting Images to Your iPhone®

REQUIREMENTS: ShowCase 5.1 or later running on a Windows PC; Apple QuickTime® 7 or later (available as a free download from www.apple.com/quicktime/download)

First You will Need to Configure Your Export to iPhone Settings

1. Select any image and press the Export button or choose the Export Image As... menu item from the File menu. This will bring up the Export Images dialog.

Select the Phone Setup button shown above. If you are always exporting to your own phone or always emailing your exported files you might only do this setup once.

2. In the iPhone Settings section of the configuration dialog, browse to the folders where the exported images should be stored. You might use folders you are already using to sync photos to your iPhone. (See the iPhone manual – static images and movies are imported in different ways.)

Adjust the Number of seconds to loop short clips setting.

Number of seconds to loop short clips 10

This setting allows you to specify the minimum time that a short clip will be shown on your iPhone. The default setting is 12 seconds which means a one second clip will loop 12 times.

-- Press the Save Settings button to complete the set up.

Now You Can Export Images with the iPhone Button

3. Click to select the images you would like to move to your iPhone. (Shift-Click selects a range of images and Ctrl-Click adds an individual image to the selection.) Then click on the Export button or choose the Export Image As... menu item from the ShowCase File menu. This will bring up the Export Images dialog.
4. Now just click the iPhone button at the top of the screen. The static images and movies will be written to the folders you have specified in a format compatible with the iPhone displays.

If your images were exported to an iPhone sync folder (still images) they will automatically import to your phone the next time you sync. Movies need to be sync'd individually.

Move or Email the Images if You Need to

If you are moving the images to a different computer or have your export folders set to locations that are not part of the iPhone sync files then you will need to use a Windows Explorer window (My Computer) to find and move your exported files. Or you might want to email the images to yourself or others. You can save the static images on your phone by tapping the image and then tapping the Save button.
