

License Keys

When you purchase a ShowCase license for your computer, you will be sent an email with your license key in it. The key is a simple set of letters and numbers separated by hyphens that looks like "SC-XYZ-1234-4321". You will need your license key to proceed. If you do not have it handy, go get it now. If you're having trouble locating your license keys, please contact support@triltech.com for help.

When ShowCase is started for the first time, it will display the following dialog:

To license your copy of ShowCase, enter your License Key into the text area and click the Activate button. A few messages will appear about contacting the license server and then ShowCase should start.

Troubleshooting

Invalid License Key

If you got a message saying your license key is invalid, check your license key email to make sure you've entered the correct key. ShowCase license keys are of the form "SC-XXX-nnnn-nnnn" where XXX are upper case letters and nnnn are numbers. ShowCase license keys always start with the letters "SC". If you can't find your email or think the key you're trying to use is valid, contact support@triltech.com for help.

Not Connected to The Internet

If your computer is not connected to the internet, please connect it to the internet and try again. If this is not possible, see the Manual Licensing section later in this guide.

Unable to Connect to The Trillium License Server

If your computer cannot reach the Trillium License Server (www.triltechsupport.com) due to site blocking by your IT group or other firewall issues, contact them and have them allow triltechsupport.com through your blocking software. If that is not possible, see the Manual Licensing section later in this guide.

30 Day Free Trial

ShowCase can also be run under a 30 day free trial. Trial licenses can only be used once on a given computer. They cannot be renewed or reset. If you are running a trial license but it expires, and still need some time to evaluate the software, please contact support@triltech.com to request a temporary license.

Transferring Your License to Another Computer

Using Your ShowCase License on More Than One Computer

Let's say you want to be able to view studies at home when you're not in the office. That's what shared licenses are for. A shared license allows ShowCase to be installed on up to 10 computers, but can only be in use on one computer at a time. Shared licenses have several restrictions:

- 1. Shared licenses will only work on computers that are continuously connected to the internet.
- 2. Shared licenses can only be used by one person on one copy of ShowCase at a time.
- 3. Shared licenses cannot be Manually activated licenses.

ShowCase cannot start under a shared license unless it can contact the internet. If you have a practice with unreliable internet connectivity, do not use shared licenses.

Sharing a License

To designate your license as shared, start by licensing ShowCase as you normally would, and then click on the File menu and select License Management...

In the License Sharing section, select "Share this license with other computers". You may also want to adjust the idle timeout for the shared license.

When you install and license ShowCase on another computer using the same license key, it will automatically set the license as shared on the new computer. Shared licenses remain 'in use' until the idle timeout period is reached, or ShowCase is exited. Please note that 'idle' means that ShowCase has not been touched at all. Any mouse or keyboard interaction with ShowCase will reset the idle timer and keep the license attached to that copy of ShowCase.

Fixing a License Permanently to your Computer

By default, ShowCase licenses are installed as 'fixed' unless you, the customer, configure them to be shared.

You can revert your license to 'fixed' at any time simply by opening the License Management... dialog and selecting "Keep this license on this computer". If you do this, all other shared installations of ShowCase will cease to function.
